A Mun Lang.-New Yorkers in the neighborhood of Lexington avenue and Twenty-street, on Tuesday, had the satisfaction of assisting, as the French say, at a performance which kept the agony piled up nearly all day. A man named John Crane, lately discharged from the military service, and laboring under a severe attack at delirium tre mens, was the hero of the occasion. In the forenoon a rumor gained currency through the Eighteenth Ward, to the effect that a man had been seen to jump into the sewer through the aperture under the sidewalk at the cor ner named above, and the aid of the police was besought towards rescuing him before his life was snuffed out. With ladders and ropes they probed both the sewer-basin and the rumor to the bottom, and finally gave up the search, impressed with the opinion that they had been hadly sold. But the people of the ward were not satisfied, and the excitement increased—the opening where the man went in. (and hadn't come out) being the tocus of a numerous and noisy crowd fur several hours. It was not until four o'clock in the afternoon that the mystery was solved. At that hour two patrolmen, passing the corner of Twenty-second street and Third Avenue, heared a sound which appeared to come from beneath their teet, and seemed like the cry of a person in distress. Following their cars (and noses too, probably,) they traced the noise as they thought, to the sewer basin, under the corner curbstone, and raising the cover, what should they see there but a man perfectly naked, groping about in the mud and darkness in a state of "confusion worse confounded. When questioned the poor fellow gave replies which showed that he was out of his mind and in a condition of mortal terror lest some pursuer might catch and kill him. Assuring him of protection from his dreaded persecutor the policemen won his confidence, and procuring a horse-blanket they took the model sewered man, thus fig-leaved, through the streets to the station-house. He was thesee sent to Bellevoe Hospital. This story would be remarkable enough if the man had only been an involuntary manate of a sewer basin during the six or eight hours he had been missing; but when one recitizes that he had plunged into his muddleth at the corner of Lexington avenue and Twentycorner of Third avenue and Twenty second street, after toiling through the sewer several hours time and necessarily performed in almost perfect darkness, there is a touch of marvelous about it, expuble of being worked up by a Ledger remancer. The chief wonder about the matter is that the mud lark did not cost the man his life. Sir Walter Scott, walking once with Lady Scott, saw some lambs and remarked on their beauty. "Yes," said the wife, "lambs are beautiful—boiled?" We read that Mrs. Wadsworth was once walking in a grave and Wadsworth was once wairing in a growand heard a farmer's wife soliloquizing, "Oh. my, I do like stock doves." The heart of the poet's wife pearned toward that Amarylis. "But," continued the old woman, "there he's some what likes om in a pie; but for my part there's nothing like 'em stewed in onions." Horace Smith tells of a city miss who accosted a keeper of sheep in the fields, as she glowed with a desire for an Arcadian concert. "O. gentle shepherd, prythee tell me where's your pipe?" to which the man replied, "I left it to hum, miss, 'cause I hain't got no bacey."

Last Thursday, in a lead mine at Memphis, Tennessee, some specimens of red sand. stone were broken open and one was found to contain a petrified human hand in perfect state of preservation. In other cases parts of animals were found, and one black snake some five feet long, was found, of the consistency and weight of the stone. On the St. Lawrence, on the 17th inst., a raft, during the storm and derkness, with thirty men on it, was driven into the Cedar Rapids, from its anchorage, and the logs were dashed in every direction. It might be supposed that there would be no hope for any one on heard, but four Indians executed. any one on board, but four Indians escuped, ched an island, from which they
